تمهيد

ما شاء الله ولا قوة إلا بالله العليّ القدير والصلاة والسلام على النبي محمد وعلى آله الطيبين الطاهرين.

نسبة للنجاح الكبير الذي لاقاه كتابي السابق بعنوان "أساسيات قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية للطلاب السودانيين" من جانب الأساتذة والطلاب والمختصين والقراء العاديين من كل الجنسيات، فإنني أقدم هذا الكتاب كإضافة للمكتبة العالمية المتخصصة في مجال قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية حتى تكون جزءاً من المناهج التعليمية أو خاصة تعلم ذاتي تساعد الطالب على تعلم قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية بمجهوداته الخاصة. وبالرغم من أن هذا الكتاب يشبه الكتاب السابق من حيث الشكل العام، إلا أنني وجدت أنه من الضروري إصدار كتاب يكون أكثر شمولاً من ناحية الكم ونوع الشرح والقاعدة العامة والتمارين ولكي يتناول التفاصيل بطريقة شاملة ويغطي العديد من الجوانب التي لم تتم تغطيتها في الكتاب السابق. لذلك، فقد تمت إضافة دروس جديدة ومراجعة ترتيب تسلسل بعض الدروس حتى تتناسب مع الدارس العالمي لقواعد اللغة الإنجليزية وهذا هو ما يجعل هذا الكتاب متميزاً عن الكتاب السابق.

إن هذا الكتاب أيضاً موجه للمرحلة المتوسطة والمتقدمة من تعلم اللغة الإنجليزية. ويتناسب مع واقع تعلم اللغة الإنجليزية كلغة أجنبية وثانية وأكاديمية. وبذلك يكون الكتاب نافعا على نطاق عالمي. إذ استقى محتواه ومنهجيته من عقلية متخصصة ومهنية استطاعت استكشاف الاهتمام المشترك لدى الأساتذة والطلاب والباحثين في كل أنحاء العالم بأساسيات قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية وحبهم لتناول الجانب الميكانيكي للغة الإنجليزية وحصاد الكثير من المنافع منه في شكل مقدرات الكتابة الصحيحة والتحدث الواثق والقراءة المستوعبة. إذ يجب كل هؤلاء الانغماس في حل تمارين قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية لأنهم يجدوا فيها نوعاً من 'ساحات المواجهة' من أجل تعلم جانب من جوانب هذه اللغة التي تبدي مقاومة للذين يحاولون تعلمها في البيئة التي تكون فيها 'لغة أجنبية أو ثانية أو أكاديمية' فيحاولوا ترويض وتعلم الجانب الميكانيكي لهذه اللغة. إن هذا هو الميل العام لمعظم هؤلاء الطلاب. وقد شعرت أن الأساتذة والطلاب والباحثين محرومون من التمارين اللغوية التي تشبع حبهم لتناول مثل هذه النشاطات العقلية وتعطيهم فرصة في زيادة إحساسهم بهذه اللغة وتساهم في تقوية تأسيسهم اللغوي.

إن هذا الكتاب مبني على قناعاتي التي كررتها في الكتب التي أصدرتها في السابق والتي تؤكد أن الطالب في البيئة التي تكون فيها اللغة الإنجليزية 'لغة أجنبية' لا يستطيع تحقيق تقدم ملموس في تعلمها ما لم يمتلك سيطرة على قواعدها. وهذه قناعة أكدتها في كتابي بعنوان:

Teaching English in Sudan : A Practical Approach

في ذلك الكتاب فإنني أكدت، "إن معرفة القواعد هي التي تجعل من يتعلمها يفهم معنى ما يقرأه وتمكّنه من الكتابة الصحيحة والمفهومة والتفريق بين الصحيح والخطأ." وقد كررت هذه القناعة في الكتب الأخرى بعنوان :

Sudanese Educational Issues: An Ideological Perspective

History of English in Sudan: A Critical Re-reading

وتشهد مستويات كسب الطلبة في تعلم اللغة الإنجليزية تدهوراً مستمراً في

الكثير من الدول لأنها تهافتت نحو تطبيق الافتراضات التي تصدر من الغرب، مثل 'كفاءة التواصل' و 'التحدث أولاً' الخ. هجرت الكثير من الدول المقررات الدراسية التقليدية ذات النمط الفطري في التدريس والتعلم والتي تميل بشكل تلقائي إلى تناول قواعد اللغة ومن ثم خامات القراءة المتدرجة والسلسلة والتي كانت توفر للدارس ذخيرة لغوية كامنة ونشطة. بهذه الطريقة المثلي كانت الإنجليزية مزدهرة في الماضي. إذ كان الطالب يركز على القواعد والخامات القرائية السلسلة. غير أن المقررات الحالية القائمة على الافتراضات لم تضع في حسابها أن الطالب لن يتعلم المهارات اللغوية في اللغة الإنجليزية ما يتعلم مهارة التعامل مع قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية. بكلمة أخرى، إن الطالب لن يتمكن من تعلم اللغة الإنجليزية إذا لم يتعلم كيف تعمل ميكانيكية اللغة نفسها.

أعطى هذا الكتاب مرونة في تناول المادة الدراسية. إذ يستطيع المعلم ترتيب الأولويات حسب متطلبات المنهج. أما الطالب في المستوى المتوسط من تعلم قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية فيمكنه الاستفادة من هذا الكتاب حسب ما تم تدريسه له أو تسريع تعلمه لقواعد اللغة الإنجليزية بالاعتماد على خامات التعلم الذاتي هذه. فيما يختص بهؤلاء الطلاب سريع التعلم أو هؤلاء الذين في مراحل تعليمية عليا فيمكنهم إعادة ترتيب الدروس اللغوية حسب علاقات الدروس مع بعضها البعض أو معدلات سرعة استيعابهم وتشريحهم للمادة اللغوية لهذا الكتاب وخلق كتاب في ذاكرتهم ذو ترتيب مستقل للمواد اللغوية وهذا هو هدف الكتاب. وسيكون هذا الكتاب قد حقق هدفه إذا نجح في الهام تفكير الأساتذة والطلاب والباحثين في قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية. إذ حرص الكاتب على خلق جيل خلاق ومبدع في مجال قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية. واستطيع أن اجزم أنه وبعد أن ينتهي الطالب/الطالبة من ممارسة تمارين قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية وفهمها فإنه بكل تأكيد سيكون قادراً على ان يكتب بطريقة صحيحة ويتحدث بأسلوب واثق ويفهم الخامات المكتوبة بطريقة جيدة شريطة أن يمتلك رصيذاً كافياً من الكلمات. وقد اضاف المؤلف في نهاية الكتاب قائمة الدروس التي يمكن للمعلم اتباعها في تدريس طلاب الثانوية والجامعة وفقاً لترتيب منهجي يجعلهم يدركون العلاقة المتداخلة بين قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية واعتمادها على بعضها البعض. وقد قدم المؤلف لاسناذ الثانوي والجامعة في نهاية الكتاب اقتراحاً بالدروس مرتبة وفقاً لاسبقية التدريس ليدرك الطلاب العلاقة المتداخلة بين دروس قواعد اللغة الإنجليزية واعتمادها على بعضها البعض.

ونتمنى أن يكون هذا الكتاب مصدر فائدة دائمة للأساتذة والطلاب والباحثين. وبالرغم من الجهد الذي بذلته في كتابة وإصدار هذا الكتاب فإنني لا ادعي خلوه من العيوب. لذلك فإنني سأقبل، برحابة صدر وبكل امتنان، التعليقات والاقتراحات البناءة التي تساهم في إدخال تحسينات في الطباعات المنقحة القادمة للكتاب.

وصلى الله على حبيبنا محمد وعلى آله الطيبين الطاهرين.

In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious and the Most Merciful and peace be upon the Prophet and his Purged Progeny

Preface

Allah's will (be done)! There is no power But with Allah, the Almighty, Praise be to Allah, the Cherisher and the Sustainer of the Worlds, and PBU the Prophet Mohammed and his purged progeny.

Due to the great success received by my previous book titled "Basics of English Grammar for Sudanese Students" by teachers, students, specialists and ordinary readers from all nationalities, therefore, I present this book as an addition to the specialized international library in the field of the grammar of English so that it can be a part of the educational courses or a self-access material that helps the learner to learn the grammar of English on his own efforts. Though this book resembles the previous book in its general shape, but I found that it is necessary to publish a book that is more exhaustive as far as the quantum and quality of explanation, rule and drills are concerned and so as to handle the details in an inclusive manner and cover many aspects that have not been covered in the previous book. Therefore, new lessons were added and the order of some lessons has been reviewed so that they may be suitable with the international student of the grammar of English language; this is what makes this book distinct from the previous book.

This book is also directed to the intermediate and advanced level of learning English language. It suits the situation of learning English as a foreign, second and academic language. Thus, the book becomes, internationally, useful. It derived its content and methodology from a specialized and professional intellect that could discover the common interest of teachers, students and researchers all over the world in basics of the grammar of English language and their love to handle the mechanical side of English language and reap a lot of benefits from it in the form of the abilities of correct writing, confident speaking and comprehending reading. All those like to indulge in solving the drills of the grammar of English language because they find in it a kind of 'confrontation filed' for the sake of learning one of the sides of this language that shows a resistance to those who try to learn it in the environment in which it is 'foreign, second or academic language'. They try to tame and learn the mechanical side of this language. This is the common tendency of most of those students. I felt that the teachers, students and searchers are deprived of the linguistic drills that satisfy their love to handle such intellectual activities, give them the chance of increasing their feeling of this language and contribute in strengthening their linguistic foundation.

This book is based on my conviction that I have repeated in the books which I have published in the past and which asserts that the student, in the situation in which English language is a foreign language, can't achieve a tangible progress in learning it unless he possesses a control over its grammar. This is a conviction which I asserted in my book titled:

Teaching English in Sudan: A Practical Approach

In that book I asserted, “It is the knowledge of grammar that makes it possible for the learner to make a sense of what he is reading, create a coherent and sensible writing and distinguish between right and wrong forms.” I have repeated this conviction in the other books titled:

Sudanese Educational Issues: An Ideological Perspective
and
History of English in Sudan: A Critical Re-reading

The levels of students' gain in English language are witnessing a continuous deterioration in many countries because they rushed to implement the presumptions which are issued in the West such as 'communicative competence', 'speaking first', etc. Many countries abandoned the traditional studying courses which have the innate norm of teaching and learning and which tend spontaneously to handle the grammar of the language and then the graded and authentic reading material which used to provide the learner a linguistic reserve that is potential and active. By this ideal way English was prosperous in the past. The student used to concentrate on grammar and authentic reading material. But the current courses which are based on presumptions have not put into consideration that the student, in foreign language teaching situation, would not learn English language unless he learns the skill of dealing with the grammar of English. In other words, the student will not learn English unless he learns how the mechanism of the language itself works. The author has added; in the latter editions,

This book has been designed in a particular way to give, in different manner, an abundant quantum of materials that explain the grammar of English language, phrase the general rule and provide exclusive drills in order to consolidate the understanding. I exerted an effort to make the rule and examples and the method of handling clear and appealing to all those who use this book. Generally, it can be said that this book will help whoever uses it to understand the basics of the grammar of English language because it contains a lot of examples that embody the general rule and reinforce it as well.

This book gave flexibility in handling the studying item. The teacher can order the priority according the requirements of the course. As far as the student at the intermediate level of learning the grammar of English is concerned, he can make use of this book as per what has been taught to him or even accelerate the process of learning the grammar of English language by depending on this self-access material. As far as those fast-learning students or those who are at higher educational stage are concerned, they can reorder the lessons according to relation of lessons with each other or the rate of the speed of their understanding and imbibing of the linguistic material of this book and creating a book which has an independent order of the linguistic materials in their memory, this is the main aim of the author. This book will have achieved its aim if it succeeds in inspiring the thinking of teachers, students and researchers in the field of the grammar of English language. I can assert that after the student completes practicing the exercises of the grammar of English language and understanding them, he will, definitely, be able to write correctly and speak confidently and understand the reading material properly provided that he possesses a sufficient stock of vocabulary. At the end of the book, the author gave the secondary school and university teachers a suggestion of lessons arranged according to priority of teaching so as to make students realize the intertwined relationship between English grammar lessons and their dependency on each other.

We hope that this book becomes a source of continuous benefit for teachers, students and researchers. Despite the efforts I have put in to write and publish this book, I never claim that it is free of defects. Therefore, I will accept, wholeheartedly and with all gratitude, the constructive comments and suggestions that contribute to introducing improvements in the next revised editions of the book.

Peace be upon the Prophet Mohammed and his purged Progeny

A Guide to Correct Pronunciation

The following symbols are the model phonetic notations to transcribe (1) pure vowels, (2) diphthongs, and (3) consonants. There are twenty vowels in English. They are divided into (1) pure vowels (monophthongs). They are twelve vowels. (2) diphthongs. They are eight. The following are the phonetic symbols for pure vowels (Monophthongs) of the English language:

No.	Symbol	Ordinary Spelling	Phonetic Transcription
1.	/i:/	see, me	/si:/ /mi:/
2.	/i /	hit, it	/hit/ /it/
3.	/e/	get, set	/get/ /set/
4.	/æ /	cat, mat	/cæt/ /mæt/

The Sentence الجملة

Jumbled Words الكلمات المختلطة

Read the following groups of words:

tree that palm climb

palm I climbing like trees

river this Nile is the beautiful at boat look that flying are birds

country agricultural Sudan an is

The above groups of words can't make meaningful sentences because they are not ordered words. They are groups of jumbled words. Therefore, they can't be called sentences.

We express our thoughts by using groups of words which are ordered and make sense.

The Sentence الجملة

Read the following groups of words:

Climb that palm tree.

I like climbing palm trees.

This is the river Nile.

Look at that beautiful boat.

Birds are flying.

Sudan is an agricultural country.

These groups of words make sense because they are ordered. They are sentences.

Learn:

A sentence is a group of words that can stand on its own and make complete sense.

The Phrase العبارة

Examine the following sentences:

1. On the table.

2. At evening.

3. By post.

4. In the room.

5. After arriving.

6. From the city.

7. Before waking up.

8. Behind the wall.

9. Near the gate.

10. Among people.

11. Down the river.

12. Up the wall.

These groups of words make sense, but they are not complete sentences. Therefore, they are called phrases and not sentences.

Learn:

A group of words that make some sense, but not complete sense is called a Phrase. It can't stand on its own and independently.

Thus, let's remember this rule:

The study of grammar is the study of words and how they act when they are in the form of groups.

Exercise (1):

The following are some groups of words. Identify them. Write (S) for a sentence, (J) for jumbled words and (P) for a phrase in the bracket given against each sentence:

1. Teaches the me teacher.	()
2. Under my bed.	()
3. I enjoy going to mosque.	()
4. Who is knocking the door?	()
5. What a lovely flower!	()
6. Honey bees make.	()
7. At the door.	()
8. Cats like milk.	()
9. Next to the hotel.	()
10. How beautiful the moon is!	()
11. Exercise health good is for.	()
12. To be a distinguished guest.	()
13. Did they come yesterday?	()
14. Close the window.	()
15. Where was he standing?	()
16. name is your what?	()
17. he eaten the has food?	()
18. Open the gate.	()
19. In the room.	()
20. The earth is round.	()
21. At the gate.	()
22. with the down enemy.	()
23. Has he humiliated the Imperialists?	()
24. In the morning.	()
25. over are exams the.	()
26. Shut up!	()
27. computer switch off the.	()
28. Can he operate the machine?	()
29. For two days.	()
30. How dark the room is!	()

Subject and Predicate المبتدأ والخبر

Every spoken or written sentence consists of two parts. They are the Subject and the Predicate. They are the components of a sentence.

Read the following sentences:

The cook makes food.

My father is a teacher.

The man planted a flower.

How beautiful the moon is!

What a pleasant weather it is!

There are two parts in each of the above sentences. The words in bold type 'The cook', 'Children', 'My father', 'The man', 'the moon' and 'weather' are called the Subjects because they are the naming part of the sentence.

Learn:

The person or thing about which we speak is called the Subject. It is the naming part of a sentence.

The words in italic type 'makes food', 'like sweets', 'is a teacher', 'planted a flower', 'How beautiful is' and 'What a pleasant' are called the Predicates because they tell us something about the Subjects.

Learn:

A Predicate says something about the Subject whether it was a person or thing. It is the saying part of the sentence.

In some Imperative sentences, the Subject is understood or not mentioned. A sentence may consist of a single word, two words or three words; as: 'Go!' or 'Come here.' or 'Sit down.' or 'Don't go there.' It is clear that one part of the sentence has been left out, but it has been understood. This part is the Subject. If we say:

'Go!'	we mean	“ You go.”
'Come here.'	we mean	“ You come here.”
'Sit down.'	we mean	“ You sit down.”
'Don't go there.'	we mean	“ You don't go there.”

Exercise (2):

Underline the Subject in the following sentences:

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. Ali met Hasan.
3. How hot the tea is!
5. Men work hard in the fields. | 2. Sabir has a red car.
4. The stars twinkle in the sky.
6. Women undertake household. |
|--|--|

- | | |
|----------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 7. The goat eats grass. | 8. Thank you. |
| 9. I enjoy good health. | 10. Birds fly in the air. |
| 11. Cats like meat. | 12. Ali likes Jihad. |
| 13. Come in. | 14. The Nile waters the desert. |

4. Emphasizing Pronouns الضمائر التوكيدية : I myself, She herself, He himself, etc.
5. Interrogative Pronouns الضمائر الاستفهامية : who, whom, whose, etc.
6. Demonstrative Pronouns الضمائر الإشارة : this, these, that, those, etc.
7. Relative Pronouns ضمائر الوصل : that, who, which, where, etc.
8. Distributive Pronouns ضمائر التوزيع : each of, either of, neither of, etc.
9. Indefinite Pronouns ضمائر غير محددة :many, any, few, no, none, some, others, all, etc.

1. Personal Pronouns:

- (A) The Pronouns which refer for the person or persons speaking are called First Person Pronouns; as: I, me, my, mine, we, us, our, ours, etc.
- (B) The Pronouns which refer for the person or persons spoken to are called Second Person Pronouns; as: you, your, etc.
- (C) The Pronouns which refer for the person or persons or thing or things spoken of are called Third Person Pronouns; as: he, him, his, she, her, hers, etc.

The following table of Personal Pronouns would give more details:

	First Person Pronouns ضمائر المتكلم		Second Person Pronouns ضمائر المخاطب	Third Person Pronouns ضمائر الغائب
Nominative Pronouns ضمائر الرفع (الفاعل)	I	We	You	He	She	It	They
Possessive Pronouns الضمائر التملكية	My mine	Our Ours	Your yours	His	Her hers	Its	Their theirs
Object Pronouns ضمائر المفعول به	Me	Us	You	Him	Her	It	them

2. Possessive Pronouns:

Each of the personal pronouns, except he and it has two possessive forms.

The forms my, our, your, her and their are used before the nouns they qualify. They are called Possessive adjectives; as:

1. That is my kite.
2. It is our house.
3. I want your pen.
4. This is her book.
5. These are their cars.

The forms mine, ours, yours, hers and theirs are used after the nouns; as:

1. The kite is mine.
2. That house is ours.
3. This pen is yours.
4. The book is hers.
5. These cars are theirs.

3. Reflexive Pronouns:

Read the following sentences:

1. He imposes himself.
2. They enjoyed themselves.
3. You served yourself.
4. She did the work herself.

The Pronouns 'himself', 'themselves', 'yourself', 'herself' are object of the verbs, but refer to the same person as the subject of the verbs. They are called Reflexive Pronouns. They are formed by adding 'self' or 'selves' to the personal pronouns.

4. Emphasizing Pronouns:

Read the following sentences:

1. I myself saw it.
2. They themselves told me.
3. She herself supported us.
4. You yourself send it.

The Pronouns 'myself', 'themselves', 'herself' and 'yourself' are used with a noun or pronoun so as to emphasize.

Note:

Reflexive Pronouns and Emphasis Pronouns are formed by adding 'self' or 'selves' to my, your, her, their, it.

5. Interrogative Pronouns:

Read the following sentences:

1. Who knocked the door?
2. Whom did you meet?
3. Which cake would you take?
4. What is the issue?
5. Whose pen is this?

The pronouns 'who', 'whom', 'which', 'what' and 'whose', not only stand in the place of nouns, but also ask questions.

Learn:

Pronouns used for asking questions are called Interrogative Pronouns.

Kinds of Verbs انواع الأفعال

There are two kinds of verbs:

1. Intransitive verbs, الأفعال اللازمية
2. Transitive verbs. الأفعال المتعدية

1. Intransitive Verbs:

Read the following sentences:

- | | |
|----------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1. Children play . | 2. The bell rings . |
| 3. The sun shines . | 4. Birds fly . |

The words in bold type are verbs. Each of the above verbs makes good sense and does not require an object to complete its sense. They are called Intransitive Verbs.

Learn:

A verb which does not require an object to complete its sense is called Intransitive Verb.

2. Transitive Verbs:Read the following sentences:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1. Ali drank water . | 2. She cooks fish . |
| 3. They play chess . | 4. It caught a mouse . |

The words in bold type are verbs. Each of the above verbs does not make good sense by itself. For example, if we say 'Ali drank' the meaning would not be clear. Therefore, each of the above verbs requires an object to complete its sense. The objects are the underlined words. They make the meaning of the verbs clear. A verb which requires an object to make its meaning complete is called Transitive Verb.

Learn:

A Verb which requires an object to complete its sense is called Transitive Verb.

There are some verbs which require a word or words to be added after them in order to complete its sense.

Read the following sentences:

- | | |
|--|----------------------------------|
| 1. He looks smart. | 2. She appears unhappy. |
| 3. They seem suspicious. | 4. The horse looks tired. |
| 5. Generous men are always loved. | 6. His leg is numbed. |

The words in bold type 'looks', 'appears', 'seem', 'looks', 'are' and 'is' are Copulative Verbs. A copulative verb joins the subject to a word that describes it. Therefore, each of the above verbs does not make good sense by itself. It requires a word or words to complete its meaning, therefore, it is called a verb of Incomplete Predicament. The word or phrase added after such verbs is called Complement التتمة. Thus, 'smart', 'unhappy', 'suspicious', 'tired', 'always loved' and 'numbed' are Complements.

Remember:

Some verbs can act both as Transitive and Intransitive verbs. Compare the following sentences in the following table:

In table (A) the verbs 'fly', 'run', 'rings', and 'opens' are transitive verbs because the actions pass on to the objects 'kites', ‘business’, ‘the bell’ and the ‘door’.

In table (B) the verbs ‘fly’, ‘run’, ‘rings’, and ‘opens’ are intransitive because the actions do not pass on to any objects.

Finite and Non-Finite Verbs

a. Finite Verbs:

Read the following sentences:

- | | |
|--------------------|---------------|
| 1. I cook. | 2. She cooks. |
| 3. We cook. | 4. He cooks. |
| 5. I drink. | 6. He drank. |
| 7. She will drink. | |

* We observe that in the sentences from 1-4 the verbs agree with their subjects. It means that the form of the verb changes according to the number of its subject. The verb 'cook' is used with the subject 'I'. The verb 'cooks' is used with the subject 'she'. The verb 'cook' is used with the subject 'we' and the verb 'cooks' is used with the subject 'he'. It becomes clear that there are two numbers; singular and plural. A verb that changes according to its subject is called Finite Verb.

* We observe that in the sentences from 5-7 the verbs are limited by their tenses.

Learn:

A Finite Verb agrees with its subject in number and person. It is limited by its tense also.

b. Non-Finite Verbs:

Read the following sentences:

1. He likes swimming.
2. She waited to see the film.

Adjective Degrees of Comparison

صفة درجات التفاضل

Read the following sentence:

Tariq is as clever as Sabir.

The words as...as is used to say that people or things are equal in some way. Both, Tariq and Sabir are clever.

In English language adjectives change their forms to show comparison. The three forms of adjectives are:

1. The Positive Degree, الدرجة الايجابية
2. The Comparative Degree, درجة التفاضل الاولى
3. The Superlative Degree. درجة التفاضل العليا

Read the following sentences:

1. Ali is a tall man.
2. Mona is a religious girl.

The words 'tall', 'religious' are adjectives in their simple forms. The simple form of the adjective is called the Positive Degree; as, 'tall', 'religious'.

Read the following sentences:

1. Sabir is taller than Ali.
2. Sara is more religious than Mona.

The words 'taller than', 'more religious than' refer to the comparative forms. When comparing two persons or things and saying that one has a certain quality in a greater degree than the other, the comparative form of the adjective is used. It is called the Comparative Degree; as, 'taller than' or 'more religious than'. 'Than' is used after the comparative degree. If the adjective is long, the adverb 'more' is used instead of 'er'; as,

* Dongola is more famous than Halfa.

Read the following sentences:

1. Sabir is the tallest of the three.
2. Huda is the most religious of the three.

The words 'the tallest', 'the most religious' refer to the superlative forms. When comparing more than two persons or things and saying that one has a certain quality in the greatest degree of all those are being compared, the superlative degree is used. It is called the Superlative Degree; as, 'the tallest' or 'the most religious'. If the adjective is long, the adverb 'most' is used instead of 'est'; as,

* Elgolid is the most famous of the three.

Remember:

1. "than" is used after the comparative degree; as:

Sami is faster than Hani.

Dongola is more beautiful than New York.

2. "the" is used before the superlative degree; as:

Rami is the fastest student in the school.

Kasala is the most beautiful city in the world.

3. Some adjective take 'to' instead of 'than'. They are:

junior, senior, superior, inferior,

- (a) Sameer is junior to Ali in grade.
- (b) Fatima is senior to Randa in rank.
- (c) This car is superior to that.
- (d) That model is inferior to this.

4. Some adjectives can't be compared. Their meanings indicate that they possess the highest possible degree of a quality. They are: full, dead, circular, perfect, etc.

5. The adjectives 'this' and 'that' are the only adjectives that have plural forms. They are as follows:

This/ That

These/ Those

6. Adjectives such as much, little, less, far and rather form comparative meanings.

When parsing an Adjective, mention first of all the kind of adjective, secondly, its degree, thirdly, the noun that it qualifies or distinguishes.

Let's read and parse the Adjectives in the following sentence:

That generous ruler is the richest of the rich and he is nobler than all other rulers.

Parsing:

- That : Demonstrative adjective, pointing out ruler.
 Generous: Adjective of quality, positive degree, describing ruler.
 Richest : Adjective of quality, superlative degree, describing man (understood).
 Rich : Adjective of quality, positive degree, describing men (understood).
 Nobler : Adjective of quality, comparative degree (with -er), describing the ruler.

Exercise (62):

Parse the Adjectives in the following sentences:

1. Sami is faster than Rami, but Rami is heavier than Sami.
2. We are religious people.
3. This old man is the funniest person in this big city.
4. Ali is more intellectual than Hasan, but Hasan is the most initiative man.

The Adverb (الحال / الظرف)

Read the following sentence:

Ali reads.

The above is a sentence. It is a complete statement. But, we do not know anything about Ali and his action because there are no any words which describe his action. Now, read the following sentences:

1. Ali reads loudly.
2. Ali reads now.
3. Ali reads there.

The above sentences tell us many things about Ali's action. The words in bold type tell us how, when and where the action is done by Ali.

In sentence 1 the word loudly tells us how Ali reads. It shows in what manner Ali reads and thus it modifies the verb 'reads'.

In sentence 2 the word now tells us when Ali reads. It shows when Ali reads and thus it modifies the meaning of the verb 'reads'.

In sentence 3 the word there tells us where Ali reads. It shows where Ali reads and thus it modifies the meaning of the verb 'reads'.

Therefore, each sentence got a word that adds something to the meaning of its verb. Such words are called Adverbs. The words (loudly, now, there) are adverbs.

Learn:

An Adverb is the word that adds something to the meaning of a verb, an adjective or another adverb.

The Preposition حرف الجر

Read the following sentences:

1. The doll is on the drawer.
2. The doll is in the drawer.
3. The doll is under the drawer.
4. The doll is above the drawer.
5. The doll is beside the drawer.
6. The doll is below the drawer.
7. The doll is near the drawer.

Each of the above sentences contains a word in bold type that shows the relation between the doll and the drawer. Such words are called Preposition.

Learn:

A Preposition is a word placed before a noun or a pronoun to indicate its relation to somebody or something else in the sentence.

Read the following sentences:

1. She went with me.
2. She spoke about you.
3. I listened to her.
4. I did not believe in her.
5. She got a message from him.

In the above sentences the prepositions are used with pronouns. The noun or pronoun that follows the preposition is governed by the preposition because if we say 'She went with', the sentences will be incomplete. She must have gone with somebody or with something. The preposition 'with' must have an object or the sentences will remain incomplete. Therefore, the pronoun 'me' is called its Object.

Learn:

A Noun or Pronoun that follows a preposition is governed by the preposition, therefore, the noun or pronoun is called the Object of the preposition.

The Conjunction حرف العطف

Read the following sentences:

1. Ali and Hasan are reading the Quran.
2. Will you come or I must invite you?
3. He studied well, but could not get good marks.
4. She likes him because he is religious.

The words in bold type are used for joining sentences or words together. They are called Conjunctions.

Learn:

A Conjunction is a word that joins words or sentences together.

Now, let's read and parse اعراب Conjunctions in these sentences:

1. Sami and Rami met her.
2. I went out although it was raining.

Parsing: اعراب

And Conjunction, joining the words Sami and Rami.

Although Conjunction, joining the sentence 'I went out' to 'it was raining'.

Read the following sentences:

- * He fell down. I took him to the hospital.
- * I invited him. He did not come.

The above are two independent sentences. They are of equal rank. They do not depend on each other and neither is servant of the other. When we join them with the words 'and', 'but', the Conjunctions 'and' and 'but' are called Coordinating Conjunction. The joined sentences would be as follows:

He fell down and I took him to the hospital.

I invited him, but he did not come.

Learn:

Coordinating Conjunction is the conjunction that joins sentences or words of equal rank.

Now read the following sentences:

I will give you a great prize. You win.

If we depend on the Conjunctions 'and' or 'but' to join the above sentences, we will not be able to create sense out of what we write. However, if we use the word 'if', we can make a complete sense. The joined sentence would be as follows:

I will give you a great prize if you win.

The word 'if' joins two sentences which are not of equal rank. One of such sentences is dependent on the other, therefore, the Conjunction that joins them is called a Subordinating

Conjunction. It precedes the dependent sentence.

Learn:

Subordinating Conjunction is the conjunction that joins sentences of unequal rank. The subordinating Conjunction is always the first word in the dependent sentence.

Now, let's read and parse اعراب the Conjunctions in the following sentences:

1. Five and six make eleven.
2. He is leading a life of a sportsman though he is ill.

Parsing: اعراب

and Coordinating Conjunction, joining the word 'five' to the word 'six'.

though Subordinating Conjunction, joining the sentence 'He is leading a life of a sportsman' to the sentence 'he is ill'.

Read the following sentences:

1. I both admire and respect her.
2. Either sit down or go away.
3. Neither Mona nor Nuha cooked food.
4. They are neither clean nor neat.
5. She is not only intelligent, but also religious.
6. I want to know whether she is young or old.

9. The weather was so cold that I could not go to school.
10. Hardly had I reached the airport when the plane took off.
11. I respect such people as are religious.

In each of the above sentences there are pairs of conjunctions. They are called Correlative Conjunctions.

Learn:

Conjunctions which are used in pairs are called Correlative Conjunctions.

Remember:

In parsing pairs of Conjunctions we call the first conjunction an Introductory Conjunction and the second Correlative Conjunction.

Now, let's read and parse اعراب the pairs of Conjunctions in the following sentence:

He both loves and respects his sister.

Parsing: اعراب

both Introductory Conjunction, joining the words he to 'loves' and 'respects' to the sentence 'his sister'.

and Correlative Conjunction, correlative to the Conjunction 'both'.

Case of Nouns حالة الاسماء

Case is the form of noun or pronoun that shows the relation of noun/pronoun to other words in a sentence.

There are three types of the case:

1. The Nominative Case.
2. The Objective Case.
3. The Possessive Case.

* The Nominative Case حالة الرفع

Read the following sentences:

1. Ali (He) reads the Quran.
2. The cat is eating a rat.
3. The river is flooding.

In the above sentences, the words 'Ali, cat, river' are the Subjects of the verbs. Therefore, they are in the Nominative Case. Therefore, the Nominative Case answers the question 'Who?' or 'What?'; as:

Who reads?	Ali
What is eating a rat?	The cat.
What is flooding?	The river.

Learn:

A Noun (or Pronoun) which is the subject of a verb is in the Nominative Case. The Nominative Case answers the question 'Who?' or 'What?'

Exercise (133):

Pick out the nouns (or pronouns) in the Nominative Case in the following sentences:

- | | |
|---|--|
| <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Sami caught a fish. 3. Adultery causes AIDS. 5. The barrel is full of water. 7. Ali married Fatima. 9. They never smoke cigarette. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. Ali read the Quran. 4. The fox was chased by the dog. 6. She is there. 8. Sudan lies in the heart of Africa. 10. You got the highest marks. |
|---|--|

* The Objective Case حالة النصب

Read the following sentences:

1. Rami greeted Ahmed.
2. He teaches her.
3. The horse ate the grass.
4. The book is under the bed.

In sentences 1 and 2, the words ‘Ahmed, her, the grass’ are the Objects of the verbs. Therefore, they are in the Objective Case.

In sentence 3, the word ‘the bed’ is the Object of the preposition ‘under’. Therefore, it is also in the Objective Case. Therefore, the Objective Case answers the question ‘Whom?’ or ‘What?’; as:

Whom did Rami greet? Ahmed.

Whom does he teach? her.

Learn:

A Noun (or Pronoun) which is the Object of a verb is in the Objective Case. The Objective Case answers the question ‘Whom?’ or ‘What?’ or ‘Where?’

Read the following sentences:

1. He went across the street.
2. She departed after them.

Nouns and pronouns which follow the preposition are in the Objective case.

Read the following sentences:

1. The tiger chased the lion.
2. The lion chased the tiger.

In sentence 1, the noun ‘tiger’ is the Subject of the verb ‘chased’. It is in the Nominative Case.

In sentence 2, the noun ‘tiger’ is the Object of the verb ‘chased’. It is the Objective Case.

However, in sentence 2, the noun ‘lion’ is the Subject of the verb ‘chased’. It is in the Nominative Case.

In sentence 1, the noun ‘lion’ is the Object of the verb ‘chased’. It is in the Objective Case.

Learn:

The Nominative and Objective case of nouns are similar in form, but they are recognized by their position in the sentence and sense.

Remember:

However, we must remember that the Nominative cases come before the verb whereas the Objective cases come after the verb.

Read the following sentences:

1. He met me.
2. I met him.

The above sentences show that the Nominative and Objective cases of pronouns are not indicated by a change of form. The pronoun 'he' in the Nominative case changes in form and turns into 'him' in the Objective case. Similarly, the pronoun 'I' in the Nominative case changes in form and turns into 'me' in the Objective case.

Exercise (134):

Pick out the nouns (or pronouns) in the Objective Case in the following sentences:

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Rami wrote a letter. 3. Adultery causes AIDS. 5. He departed after me. 7. He married her. 9. The patient comes for treatment. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 2. She is cooking food. 4. The fox was chased by the dog. 6. She is helping me. 8. Sudan lies in the heart of Africa. 10. They sat on the chairs. |
|--|---|

 The Possessive Case حالة التملكRead the following sentences:

1. These are Rami's books.
2. That is Ali's car.
3. This is my pen.

In the above sentences 'Rami's book', 'Ali's car', 'my pen' are in the Possessive Case. They denote the possessors or owner of something. Therefore, the Possessive Case answers the question 'Whose?'; as:

Whose books are these? Rami's books.

Learn:

A Noun (or Pronoun) used to show possession is in the Objective Case. The Possessive Case answers the question 'Whose?'

* Formation of Possessive Case تكوين حالة التملكية

1. The Possessive Case of singular nouns is formed by adding an apostrophe ('s) at the end; as:
 - (a) Salih's book is on the shelf.
 - (b) The girl's pen is there.
 - (c) Tariq's father.

2. The Possessive Case of plural nouns which are formed by changing the inside vowel is formed by adding an apostrophe ('s) at the end; as:
 - (a) Children's mother.
 - (b) Women's shoes.
 - (c) Men's behavior.

3. The Possessive Case of plural nouns and singular nouns which end in (s) is formed by adding an apostrophe (') at the end; as:
 - (a) Boys' hostel. [Plural noun ending in (s)]
 - (b) Teachers' office. [Plural noun ending in (s)]
 - (c) Charles Dickens' novel. [Singular noun ending in (s)]
 - (d) Abbas' car. [Singular noun ending in (s)]

* The Use of Possessive Case استعمال حالة التملكية

- (i) The Forms of Possessive Case ('s), (') are used with the names of living things; as:
 1. Salih's book is on the shelf.
 2. Boys' hostel.
 3. Children's mother.
 4. Dickens' novel.

- (ii) The lifeless things form the Possessive Case by using the preposition (of) ; as:
 1. The taste of the mango is sweet.
 2. The page of the book is torn.
 3. The window of the room is closed.

Remember:

It is wrong to say ‘The mango’s taste’ is sweet; ‘The book’s page is torn’, ‘The room’s window is closed’.

However, the Possessive Case is used with nouns referring to time, space, and weight; as:

1. A day’s journey.
2. A month’s holiday.
3. A meter’s length.
4. A kilo’s weight.

Read the following sentences:

1. The thief’s arrest was celebrated by all people.
2. The cat’s presence made the mouse run away.
3. The leader’s assassinator was jailed.
4. The guardian’s absence gave chance to the thief to enter the house.

The above sentences indicate that the Possessive Case does not always refer to possession.

Exercise (135):

Pick out the nouns in the Possessive Case in the following sentences:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 1. The horse’s tail is long. | 2. Ali’s speech was influential. |
| 3. Men’s shirts are expensive. | 4. The boys’ room is clean. |

Punctuation

علامة الترقيم في الكتابة

The correct use of writing marks such as full stop, comma, etc. is called Punctuation. Punctuation is important as it makes the sense, of what is written, clear. The main punctuation marks are as follows:

1. The Comma (,)

The comma marks the short pause in a sentence. It is used in the following position:

(a) To separate words of the same parts of speech (words in a series); as

- * I met Sami, Ali, Tariq and Jamal. (Proper nouns)
- * I bought a house, a car, a TV and a fridge. (Common nouns)
- * Mona is religious, respectable and intelligent. (Adjectives)
- * He spoke frankly, briefly and clearly. (Adverbs)
- * You, he, she and I are brothers. (Pronouns)

(b) To mark the name of the person addressed; as:

- * Toney, go out from there.
- * George, mind your words.

(c) Before and after the words in apposition; as:

- * Khartoum, the capital of Sudan, stands on the confluence of the two Niles.
- * Mohammed Ahmed El Mahadi, the great Sudanese leader, defeated the Turkish army.

(d) To separate date of the same year; as:

- * September 11, 2001.

(e) To separate cities and provinces; as:

- * We visited Bara, Kordofan, on our vacation.

2. The Full Stop (.)

The full stop is the long pause at the end of an assertive or imperative sentence; as:

- * Mona is a religious girl.
- * Pray regularly in the mosque.

3. The Question Mark (?)

The question mark is placed at the end of an interrogative sentence; as:

- * Where did you come from?
- * How old are you?
- * Did he come yesterday?

4. The Exclamation Mark (!)

The exclamation mark is placed after an exclamation sentence; as:

- * What a lovely flower!
- * How happy he is!

5. The Inverted Commas (“ ”)

The inverted commas are used to mark off the exact words; as:

- * Ali said, “The Quran teaches us an ideal method of life.”
- * “Ali was a great man.” said the teacher.

6. Semicolon (;)

The semicolon is used to mark a pause longer than that indicated by the comma. It is used to separate the clauses of a compound sentence; as:

- * She is religious; I respect her.

7. The colon (:)

The colon is used to mark a pause longer than that indicated by the semicolon; as:

- * My father always repeats: Health is wealth.
- * My sister says: Religiosity is treasure.

8. The apostrophe (')

The apostrophe is used to indicate possession; as:

- * Ali's father borrowed Salih's car.

The apostrophe is also used to mark the omission of a letter; as:

- * I'm very thankful for what you've done for me.

The Use of Capital Letter

Capital letters are used:

1. To begin a sentences; as:

- * She is cooking food. * They are playing football.
- * Did he drink the juice? * Why is the child crying?

2. To begin the first word of every line in a poem; as:
 - * Down with our enemies everywhere,
For their threat we never care.
Defeating them is our main aim,
Achieving martyrdom is our lovely game.

3. To begin the Proper nouns and adjectives that are formed from them; as:
 - * Abbas is building a house in Dongola city.
 - * Khartoum lies at the confluence of the Blue Nile and the White Nile.
 - * Hasan is a great Islamic scholar.
 - * Sudan is a big country and the Sudanese are very generous people.

4. To begin the names of the days of the week and months of the year; as:
 - * Friday is a festive day.
 - * Ramadan sometimes comes in July.

5. To begin the names of books, newspaper, magazines, etc; as:
 - * Alwan newspaper , the Quran.

6. To begin the first word of a sentence put within the inverted commas; as:
 - * Sameer said to me, "You will get the highest mark."
 - * Mona said, "Scarf is my favorite head-cover."

1. If he had money, he would give you.
2. If I saw him, I would tell him the fact.
3. If he were in the bus, she would see him.
4. If I were a king, I would jail you.
5. If they were generous, they would help the poor.

In sentence 1, 'he would give you' is the Principal Clause. He would give you on the condition that 'he had money'. 'If he had money' is the Subordinate Clause. It is an Adverb Clause of Condition If (2).

In sentence 2, 'I would tell you' is the Principal Clause. I would tell you on the condition that 'I saw him'. 'If I saw him' is the Subordinate Clause. It is an Adverb Clause of Condition If (2).

Similarly, in sentence 3, 4, 5, 'she would see him', 'I would jail you', 'they would help the poor' are the Principal Clauses. 'If he were in the bus', 'If I were a king', 'If they were generous' are the Subordinate Clauses. They are examples of Adverb Clause of Condition If (2).

Remember :

In Adverb Clause of Condition If (2) it is possible to use the singular noun or the pronouns ('he', 'she', 'it' and 'I') with 'were'. (see examples: 3 & 4).

Learn:

The Conditional Clause type (2) expresses hypothetical condition, a supposition or a situation contrary to fact or not thought of as a fact. It is used to indicate that the result is impossible to take place because the condition is impossible to be fulfilled. An Adverb Clause of Condition with If (2) is formed by:

1. (had) in its possessive case; e.g. (Noun/pronoun+had+noun)+(would +infinitive).
2. Past simple: (Noun/pronoun + past simple + would + infinitive without to).

3. ('he', 'she', 'it' and 'I') + were:
* (he/she/it[were]+noun/adj./verb)+(would+infinitive without to).
* (They/we/you/I[were]+noun/adj./verb+(would+infinitive without to).
Pronoun/noun had + noun would
If + Pronoun/noun past simple + could + infinitive without 'to'
(he/ she /it [were]) adj./verb should
(they/you/we/I [were]) adj./verb might

Inversion in conditional clause-Type 2: Instead of using 'if' an auxiliary verb can be put before the subject: It is called 'inversion'.

e.g.:

Were he my father,.....(=If he were my father,.....).

e.g.: Were he my father, I would help him.

Active and Passive Voice

Remember:

Before dealing with the lessons of Active and Passive Voice, the learner must be well conversant with the subject and object pronouns.

Subject pronouns	Object pronouns
He	Him
She	Her
It	It
I	Me
They	Them
We	Us
You	you

From Active to Passive (Present Simple Tense) (am, is, are)

Read the following sentences:

1. She went to the school.
2. The cup falls on the floor.

In the above sentences, the verbs ‘went’, ‘falls’ have no object. They are called Intransitive Verbs. Such verbs have only one voice.

However, some verbs can be transitive in a sentence and intransitive in another; as:

* A kite flies in the sky. (Intransitive)

Rami flies a kite. (Transitive)

A kite is flown by Rami (Passive)

* Sugar melts in water. (Intransitive)

Water melts sugar. (Transitive)

Sugar is melted by water. (Passive)

Note: Only transitive verbs have two voices.

Read the following sentences:

1. Sami eats apples.
 (subject) (verb) (object/plural)

2. Apples are eaten by Sami.
 (object/plural)

In sentence 1, the Subject (Sami) of the transitive verb (eat) is the doer of the action. Therefore, the verb is in the Active Voice.

In sentences 2, the Object (Apples) of the transitive verb (eaten) does not act. It is acted upon. Therefore, the verb is in the Passive Voice.

Sami eats apples.
 Apples are eaten by Sami.

Note:

1. The object of the verb in the Active Voice becomes the Subject of the verb in the Passive Voice; The Object (apples) in the sentence 1, becomes the Subject in sentence 2.

2. When the subject in the Active Voice is in the form of a pronoun, it turns into its object pronoun in the Passive Voice. Similarly, when the object in the Active Voice is in the form of a pronoun, it turns into its subject pronoun in the Passive Voice.

She helps them.
They are helped by her.

3. In the Passive Voice, the third form of the verb is always used with the verb 'be'. The tense of the verb 'be' should agree in number and person with the subject.

We break the egg.
 The egg is broken by us.

4. In the Passive Voice, the preposition 'by' must be placed before the subject.

He teaches us.
 We are taught by him.

5. The Passive Voice in the present simple borrows the helping verbs of the present continuous tense (am, is, are) depending on the number of the object of the verb in the Active Voice.

They help me.
 I am helped by them.

We break the egg.
The egg is broken by us.

He teaches us.
We are taught by him.

Learn:

The Passive Voice in the Present Simple borrows the helping verbs of the present continuous tense (am, is, are) depending on the number of the object of the verb in the Active Voice.

Am

Object + is + Verb3 + by + Subject

AreMore Examples:

Active	Passive
He makes tea.	Tea is made by him.
It breaks the cups.	The cups are broken by it.
I do not like it.	It is not liked by me.
She does not eat them.	They are not eaten by her.
Do dogs kill foxes?	Are foxes killed by dogs?
Does she cook food?	Is food cooked by her?
Do they help me?	Am I helped by them?
Where do they keep the money?	Where is the money kept by them?
When does he eat eggs?	When are eggs eaten by him?
Who meets you?	By whom are you met?
Which pens does he select?	Which pens are selected by him?
Whose car does he drive?	Whose car is driven by him?

When parsing a verb, mention whether it is transitive or intransitive; and, if transitive, whether it is in the active voice or in the passive voice.

Now, let's read and parse اعراب the Verbs in the following sentences:

Dogs bark.

The food was eaten by the beggar.

Parsing: اعراب

Bark Verb, intransitive, active voice

Was eaten Verb, transitive, passive voice.

Mood صيغة الفعل

Read the following sentences:

1. The Quran guides human beings for the best way of life.
2. Read the Quran.
3. If I were a king, I would rule according to Islamic ideals.
4. To lead an Islamic way of life is good.

In the first sentence the verb 'guides' states a fact.

In the second sentence the verb 'read' expresses a command.

In the third sentence the verbs 'were' and 'rule' express mere supposition.

In the fourth sentence the verb 'to lead' names an action, but it doesn't mention any subject.

Each of the above four manners in which a verb is used to express an action is called its Mood.

Kinds of Mood

Read the following sentences:

1. Ali read the holy Quran.
2. The holy Quran was read by Ali.
3. What did Ali do?

The verbs in the above sentences state a fact or ask a question. Therefore, the verbs in the above sentences are in the Indicative Mood.

Read the following sentences:

1. Close the window.
2. Come here.
3. Worship Allah.
4. Help the poor.

The verbs in the above sentences are in the Imperative Mood. The subject of the verb in the Imperative Mood is not mentioned, but understood.

Read the following sentences:

1. If I were a fish, I would not be caught.
2. Perhaps he may not come in time.
3. May Allah bless you.

4. Long live our beloved movement.

The verbs in the above sentences express a supposition or doubt or a wish. Therefore, they are in the Subjunctive Mood.

Read the following sentences:

1. To have an aim in life is important.
2. To wake up early is a good thing.
3. I let him go.
4. She can write.

The verb in each of the above sentences has no subject. It is partly a noun and partly a verb. Therefore, it is in the Infinitive Mood.

Now, let's read and parse اعراب the Verbs in the following sentences:

1. She sells milk.
2. Give me some water.
3. Take care, lest you vomit.

Parsing: اعراب

- | | |
|-------|--|
| Sells | Verb, transitive, active voice, indicative mood. |
| Give | Verb, transitive, active voice, imperative mood. |
| Vomit | Verb, intransitive, active voice, subjunctive mood |

Exercise (256):

State the Mood of each verb in the following sentences:

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1. Mona teaches the students. | 2. Go there! |
| 3. If I were a policeman, I would arrest you. | 4. Long live our leader. |
| 5. To write a book is a formidable task. | 6. Illegal sexual conducts are the main causes of AIDS. |
| 7. Sameer is taught by the teacher. | 8. How did he make it? |
| 9. Sit down. | 10. I wish to go with him. |
| 11. Be kind to the orphans. | 12. Perhaps she may not accept his proposal. |
| 13. May Allah help him. | 14. To drive a car is not something difficult. |
| 15. They can swim. | 16. Let's play. |
| 17. She saw him eat. | 18. We must leave immediately. |
| 19. Mind how you talk lest I will call the police. | 20. Respect your teacher. |

Exercise (257):

Parse اعراب the Verbs in the following sentences:

1. Shut the window.
2. Prayer comforts me.
3. To heap money is difficult.
4. Allah be with you.

Direct and Indirect (Reported) Speech Assertive Sentences

There are two ways of reporting what another person said:-

1. Quoting the actual words uttered by the speaker; as:

* Sami said, "Cats are eating rats in this room."

In the above sentence, we used the actual words of the Speaker (Sami). This is called Direct Speech.

Observe the structure of the Direct Speech:

- (a) The word 'said' is called the Reporting (Introductory) Verb.
- (b) There is a comma after the Reporting (Introductory) Verb.
- (c) The sentence 'Cats are eating rats in this room' is the actual words of the speaker. It is called the Indirect (Reported) Speech.
- (d) The Reported Speech is put within inverted commas (" ").
- (e) The first word of the Reported Speech (Cats) begins with a capital letter.

2. Giving an account of what the speaker said:-

* Sami said that cats were eating rats in that room.

In the above sentence, we gave only an account of what the speaker (Sami) said. This is called Indirect (or Reported) Speech.

Observe the changes that take place when converting a Direct Speech into Reported Speech:

- a) No comma is put after the Reporting (Introductory) Verb. It is omitted.
- b) The word 'that' is used after the Reporting (Introductory) Verb.
- c) The tense of the verb in the Reported Speech is changed from present to past 'are' is changed to 'were'.
- d) The Demonstrative Adjective 'this' in the Direct Speech is changed to 'that' in the Indirect (Reported) Speech.

The following examples would give further explanation:

Rami said, "The poor man doesn't have anything." Rami said that the poor man did not have anything.
"Ali can't help the lazy people." said Kamal. Kamal said that Ali could not help the lazy people.
"The girls have never gone to a cinema." said Husain. Husain said that the girls had never gone to a cinema.

Mona said, "If boys do not study hard, they will not get high marks."
Mona said that if boys did not study hard, they would not get high marks.

* Rules for dealing with Reporting Verbs in Present or Future tense:

* Examine the following sentences:

1. Mona says, "Ali writes letters."
Mona says that Ali writes letters.
2. Tariq will say, "Rami is eating food."
Tariq will say that Rami is eating food.
3. They say, "Rami was happy."
They say that Rami was happy.
4. The men will say, "Nada has broken the glass."
The men will say that Nada has broken the glass.

Learn:

If the Reporting (Introductory) Verb is in the Present (says, say) or Future Tense (will say), the tense is not changed in the Indirect (Reported) Speech.

Exercise (258):

Change the following sentences into the Indirect (Reported) Speech:

1. He says, "Ali is a clever student."
2. She will say, "Mona likes cooking."
3. The man says, "Hayder wanted to be the best engineer."
4. The woman will say, "Hala can prepare food."
5. They say, "The boys are reading the Quran."
6. We will say, "Basheer has a car."
7. You say, "Ameen has written the letter."
8. He will say, "The girls were wearing Islamic uniform."
9. She says, "The cat ate food after I had come home."
10. They will say, "The dogs have not eaten meat since morning."

Direct and Indirect (Reported) Speech Change of Tenses

 Examine the following sentences:

1. * Jamal said, "Hani eats the banana."
Jamal said that Hani ate the banana.
* Shareef said, "The horses eat grasses."
Shareef said that the horses ate grasses.

Direct and Indirect (Reported) Speech Interrogative Sentences

Read the following sentences:

1. He said, “Is Ali in the mosque?”
He asked if Ali was in the mosque.

2. She said to him, “Does it eat meat?” (Present Simple Tense)
She asked him if it ate meat.

3. They said to me, “Do you know him?” (Present Simple Tense)
They asked me if I knew him.

4. We said to them, “Did you drink juice?” (Past Simple Tense)
We asked them if they had drunk juice.

Sentence 1, is an interrogative sentence in the form of Direct Speech. It begins with a helping verb. Therefore, in changing it to Indirect (Reported) Speech, we used the conjunction ‘if’. The Reporting Verb ‘said’ is changed to ‘asked’. The Interrogative form of the verb (Is Ali) is changed to Assertive form (Ali was) and Question Mark is omitted in the Indirect (Reported) Speech.

Note:

Present Simple and Past Simple Sentences need special attention. Sentences 2, 3, and 4 are interrogative sentences in the form of Direct Speech.

- Sentences 2 and 3 are in Present Simple. They are changed to Past Simple Tense and therefore the helping verbs ‘Does’ and ‘Do’ are omitted.
- Sentence 4, is in the Past Simple. It is changed to the Past Perfect Tense and therefore the helping verb ‘Did’ is omitted.

Read the following sentences:

1. She said to me, “Will you go to Dongola if you get a job there?”
She asked me whether I would go to Dongola if I got a job there.
2. He said to her, “Do you want to go to Juba by air or by bus?”

He asked her whether she wanted to go to Juba by air or by bus.
 3. He said to the teacher, "May I come in, Sir?"
 He respectfully asked the teacher if he might come in.

Sentence 1, is a Direct Speech Interrogative that begins with a helping verb and in the form of Conditional Clause. Therefore, in changing it to the Indirect (Reported) Speech, we used the conjunction 'whether'.

Sentence 2, is a Direct Speech Interrogative that begins with a helping verb and contains the conjunction 'or' indicating choice. Therefore, in changing it to Indirect (Reported) Speech, we used the conjunction 'whether'.

Sentences 3, is an Interrogative Direct Speech that contains the word 'Sir' indicating politeness. Therefore, in changing it to Indirect (Reported) Speech, we changed 'sir' to 'respectfully'.

Read the following sentences:

1. She said to him, "Why are they playing now?"

She asked him why they were playing then.

The above sentence shows that the interrogative sentence, in the form of Direct Speech, begins with the Interrogative words 'Why'. Therefore, in changing it to Indirect (Reported) Speech, we used the same Interrogative word used in the Direct Speech. The Reporting Verb 'said' is changed to 'asked'. The Interrogative form of the verb (Why are they) is changed to Assertive form (why they were) and Question Mark is omitted in the Indirect (Reported) Speech.

Read the following sentences:

1. He said to me, "What is your name?"

He asked me what my name was.

2. They said, "Where are our cars?"

They asked where their cars were.

3. She said, "Who is that man?"

She asked who that man was.

Sentences 1, 2, and 3 are Interrogatives Direct Speech that contain 'is' and 'are' which act as verbs and not as helping verbs. As usual, the Interrogative forms of these verbs are changed as follows:

- * (isnoun/adjective) is changed to the Assertive form
(.....noun/adjective + was)
- * (are....noun/adjective) is changed to the Assertive form
(....noun/adjective + were)
- * (isnoun/adjective) is changed to the Assertive form
(.....noun/adjective + was)

The following sentences would give further explanation:

1. "Do we work to get money only?" Sami said to Hani.

4. Sayyed said to Yasir, "Who is making noise?"
Sayyed asked Yasir who was making noise.
5. Nadia said to Salim, "Whom have you met in the market?"
Nadia asked Salim whom he had met in the market.

Remember the following summary of rule for changing Interrogative Sentences from Direct to Indirect (Reported) Speech

- a) If the interrogative sentences begins with a Helping Verb, the Conjunction 'if' or 'whether' is used.
- b) If the interrogative sentence begins with Interrogative Words 'what', 'when', 'where', 'why', 'who' 'which', 'how', etc, no conjunction is used.
- c) The Reporting Verb 'said' is changed to 'asked' or 'inquired'.
- d) The interrogative form of the verb is changed to the assertive form; e.g. (Is he) is changed to (he was).
- e) Tenses, pronouns and adverbs of time and place (showing nearness) change as in the assertive sentences.
- f) The question mark is omitted in the Indirect (Reported) Speech.
- g) 'Sir' is changed to 'respectfully'.

Tag Question

Read the following sentences:

1. He is sleeping, isn't he?
2. She sleeps, doesn't she?
3. They play, don't they?
4. He went to Kasala, didn't he?
5. We were studying, weren't we?
6. They have gone, haven't they?
7. I will meet you, won't I ?
8. She had eaten, hadn't she?

1. In each of the above sentences, we find that there are two things. The first is a statement that ends with a comma. The second is a short question added to the end of the statement. The whole structure is turned into a question. The structure which is added at the end, is called a Tag Question. Tag Question is mostly used in spoken English and in some written form.
2. In each of the above Tag Questions, there is an auxiliary form or a form of 'be' or 'do'. It means that a Tag Question is formed by using an auxiliary verb or a form of 'be' or 'do'.

Learn:

A Tag Question is a short question which is added to the end of a statement.

Read the following sentences:

1. He is eating, isn't he?
2. He is not eating, is he?

In sentence 1, the statement 'He is eating' is a positive statement, therefore, a negative question 'isn't he?' is added.

In sentence 2, the statement 'He is not eating' is a negative statement, therefore, a positive question 'is he?' is added.

Learn:

A Tag Question is negative when the statement is positive. A Tag Question is positive when the statement is negative. The negative form is usually contracted; e.g. (n't)

When we examine the sentences 1 to 8, we find that the structure of the Tag Question and its auxiliary verb depend on the tense of the statement. The statement 'He is sleeping' has the helping verb 'is', therefore, it got the Tag Question 'isn't he?' 'We were studying' has the helping verb 'were', therefore, it got the Tag

Question ‘weren’t they?’ ‘They have gone’ got ‘haven’t they?’. However, in positive present simple tense and past simple tense statements, it is important to remember the helping verbs (does, do and did) and add each accordingly to structure as in the Tag Questions in the sentence 2 , 3 and 4.

Further examples:

1. Present Simple: * He plays football, doesn’t he? * Ali eats apples, doesn’t he? * She does not cook, does she? *Mona does not sleep, does she? * They swim, don’t they? * We do not catch fish, do we?	2. (Rarely)	It has hardly rained in autumn, has it? She rarely comes here, does she?
(Little)	There was little he could do about it, was there?
(Seldom)	It seldom appears at night, does it?

In sentences which contain words such as: neither, none, no one, nobody (negative pronoun), we use ‘they’ as a subject of the Tag and the statement is treated as negative; as:

(Neither)	Neither of the girls attended, did they?
(No one)	No one will come, will they?
(Nobody)	Nobody is in the room, are they?

Sentences which begin with words such as: (everybody, everyone, somebody, someone) we use the pronoun 'they' as a subject of the Tag; as:

(Everyone)	Everyone told me, didn't they? Everyone tells me, don't they?
(Everybody)	Everybody warned him, didn't they? Everybody warns him, don't they?
(Somebody)	Somebody wanted water, didn't they? Somebody wants water, don't they?

Adverb Clause of Time with (When, While, As)

شبه الجملة الظرفية الزمنية
مع (عندما، بينما، اثناء)

Adverb Clause of Time with When:

Read the following sentences:

1. He was sleeping when the thief came in.
2. When he entered the house, she was reading the Quran.
3. They were standing under the tree when the bomb exploded.

In sentence 1, 'he was sleeping' is the Principal Clause. We may agree that he was sleeping, but 'When?' It was 'when the thief came in'. The words 'when the thief came in' is the Subordinate Clause. 'when the thief came in' is an Adverb Clause of Time.

In sentence 2, 'when he entered the house' is the Adverb Clause of Time. The words 'she was reading the Quran' is the Principal Clause.

In sentence 3, 'when the bomb exploded' is the Adverb Clause of Time. 'they were standing under the tree' is the Principal Clause.

Note:

The Adverb Clause of Time that uses 'when' is based on the past simple tense. The Principal Clause is based on the past continuous tense.

Subordinate Clause
When he entered the house

Principal Clause
she was reading the Quran

* In some cases the word 'as' can play the role of 'when' e.g.:
As he saw the crocodile, he shot at it.

Adverb Clause of Time with While/As:

Read the following sentences:

1. I met my friend while I was going to the market.
2. Salim fell down while he was playing football.
3. She broke the glass while she was cleaning it.
4. He damaged the radio as he was repairing it.

In the above sentences, the word 'while' in the subordinate clause is a conjunction.

In sentence 1, 'I met my friend' is the Principal Clause. Then we may ask: When did I meet my friend? The answer is 'while I was going to the market'. Therefore, 'while I was going to the market' is the Subordinate Clause. Thus, an Adverb Clause of Time is formed.

In sentence 2, 'while he was playing football' is the Subordinate Clause.

In sentence 3, 'while she was cleaning it' is the Subordinate Clause.

In sentence 4, the word 'as' plays the role of 'while'.

Such Subordinate Clauses act as Adverb Clauses of Time.

Note:

The Adverb Clause of Time that uses 'while' is based on the past continuous tense. The Principal Clause is based on the past simple tense.

Principal Clause

I met my friend

Subordinate Clause

while I was going to the market

Adverb Clause of Time with While:

Read the following sentences:

1. The girls were washing the dishes while the women were cooking food.

2. While he was writing a letter, she was reading a story.
3. The boys were praying while the girls were reading the Quran.

In the above sentences, the actions were going on simultaneously at the same time. Both the Principal Clause and the Subordinate Clause are based on the past continuous tense.

Principal Clause	Subordinate Clause
The girls were washing the dishes	while the women were cooking food

4. The conjunctions ‘as, till, until, before, after, as soon as, since’ create Adverb Clause of Time; as:
 1. As the king entered the palace, all the ministers stood up.
 2. As I was walking, I found a piece of gold.
 3. Don’t start the game till/until the captain comes.

1. I want to sleep because I am tired.

In the above sentence 'I want to sleep' is the Principal Clause and 'because I am tired' is the Subordinate Clause or the Adverb Clause. Why do I want to sleep? It is 'because I am tired'. The Subordinate Clause 'because I am tired' modifies the verb 'sleep' in the Principal Clause, and hence plays the role of an Adverb in relation to a word in the Principal Clause and creates an Adverb of Reason.

The following sentences would give further explanation:

1. He was dismissed from company because he violated its rules.
2. I missed the bus because I woke up very late.
3. Mona passed the test because she studied thoroughly.

Exercises (296):

Combine each of the following pairs of sentences using (because) as shown in the examples below:

Example: He was sad. He failed in exams.

Answer: He was sad because he failed in exams.

Example: Fatima prayed, so she was happy.

Answer: Fatima was happy because she prayed.

Example: The criminals attacked Rami, so he shot at them.

13. New colonialism stole our natural resources, so Ali took the weapon against it.

 Adverb Clause of Reason with (as/since):

Read the following sentences:

1. Ali was very happy as he got the highest mark in the class.
 2. Since he couldn't cook, he remained without food all the day.
- In sentence 1, the Principal Clause is 'Ali was very happy'. Was happy-Why? The reason is the Subordinate Clause 'as he got the highest mark in the class'. The word 'as' plays the role of 'because'.

In sentence 2, the Principal Clause is 'he remained without food all the day'. Remained without food-Why? The reason is the Subordinate Clause 'Since he couldn't cook'. The word 'since' plays the role of the word 'because'.

Therefore, 'as' and 'since' modify a word in the Principal Clause. They play a role in relation to a word in the Principal Clause and create Adverbs of Reason.

Both 'as' and 'since' may appear after or before the Principal Clause; e.g.:

1. He went to the bank as he wanted to withdraw some money.
2. As he wanted to withdraw some money, he went to the bank.

(1) Adverb Clause of Result (نتيجة) with (so.....that), (too.....to), (suchthat)

* Adverb Clause of Result with (so.....that):

Read these sentences:

1. The tea was so hot that I could not drink it.
2. The dog ran so quickly that I could not catch it.

In sentence 1, 'The tea was so hot' is the Principal Clause. 'that I could not drink it' is the Subordinate Clause of Result. The word 'hot' is an Adjective.

In sentence 2, 'The dog ran so quickly' is the Principal Clause. 'that I could not catch it' is the Subordinate Clause of Result. The word 'quickly' is an Adverb.

Thus, the Adverb Clause of Result is formulated by:

am/is/are/ present simple	Adjective so.....that Adverb	can't/may not	Infinitive
------------------------------	------------------------------------	---------------	------------

was/were/ past simple/ perfect tense	Adjective so.....that Adverb	couldn't mightn't	Infinitive
--	------------------------------------	----------------------	------------

Further explanation:

1. Her writing is so bad that I can't read it.
2. He is so rude that people avoid him.
3. It was so hot that he couldn't drink it.
4. He was so ill that I had to postpone the meeting.
5. She has changed so much that I could not recognize her.
6. He performed so well that everybody praised him.
7. His health is so serious that he may not survive.
8. The thieves were so fast that he might not reach them.

* Adverb Clause of Result with (....too.....to):

'too.....to' expresses a kind of negative sense. 'too' comes before the Adjective.

Read the following sentences:

1. She is too busy to answer your inquiries.
2. The tea is too hot for him to drink.

Sentence 1, is developed as follows:

- * She is very busy. She can't answer the inquiries.
- * She is so busy that she can't answer the inquiries.
- * She is too busy to answer the inquiries.

In the above sentences the Subject 'She' is described as 'busy', consequently, 'she is unable to answer the inquiries.

Sentence 2, is developed as follows:

- The tea is very hot. He can't drink it.
 - The tea is so hot that he can't drink it.
 - The tea is too hot for him to drink.
- or
- The tea is too hot to be drunk by him. (Passive Form)

In the above sentences, the Subject 'The tea' is described as 'hot', consequently, the subject 'he' is unable to drink it.

The difference between the two groups of sentences is that in the first group the subject described as 'busy' and the subject described as 'unable to answer' are the same. Therefore, there is no need to repeat the subject after the adjective 'busy' in 'too....to' sentence. The sentence is developed as follows:

She is too busy to answer the inquiries.

Thus, the formula is as follows:

She.....very..... She Sheso.....that she..... Shetoo.....to + verb
--

Whereas in the second group of sentences the subject 'The tea' is described as 'hot' and the subject described as 'unable to drink' is 'He', are not the same therefore, the preposition 'for' and the object pronoun 'him' is added in 'too....to' sentence. If the subject described as unable to drink was 'They' we would get the Object Pronoun 'them' in 'too....to' sentence. It can be written in two ways; e. g.

- The tea is very hot. He can't drink it.
 - The tea is so hot that he can't drink it.
 - The tea is too hot for him to drink.
- or
- The tea is too hot to be drunk by him. (Passive Form)

The formula is as follows:

The tea.....very..... he.....
 The teaso.....he.....
 The tea.....too.....for (Obj. Pro) to.....
 or
 The tea.....too.....to be(Ver3) by Obj. Pro

 Adverb Clause of Result with (Such/Such a/ Such an):

Read the following sentences:

1. It was such a hot tea that I could not drink it.
2. He was such an ugly man that I could not look at his face.

In the above sentences, ‘such’ plays the role of ‘so’ and it is followed by either ‘a’ or ‘an’ on the basis of the vowel by which the adjective begins and the number of the noun that comes after the adjective. ‘that I could not drink it’ and ‘that I could not look at his face’ are Subordinate Clauses of Result. The adjective ‘hot’ begins with a consonant letter whereas the adjective ‘ugly’ begins with a vowel letter. Both the adjectives are followed by a singular noun. Therefore, they are preceded by either ‘a’ or ‘an’.

Thus, the Adverb Clause of Result with (such....that) is also formulated by the following formula when the noun is singular, but begins by any of the vowels (a, o, e, u, i, and silent ‘h’ in case of such an) and the other consonants in case of (such a):

.....such + adjective + noun(singular) + that..... an

And also by the following formula when the noun is plural:

.....such + adjective + noun(plural) + that.....

Further explanation:

1. He is such an angry man that nobody can deal with him.
2. I was such a free woman that he could not trust me.
3. They are such bad people that you can’t deal with them.
4. It was such a quick running (by the thief) that I could not match it.

11. The boy will swim quickly. They can't defeat him.
12. The train had stopped suddenly. We couldn't start it.

(2) Adverb Clause of Result (نتيجة) with (enough to)

‘Enough to’ is a kind of positive.

Read the following sentences:

1. He is so clever that he can solve difficult sums.

He is clever enough to solve difficult sums.

2. She speaks so loudly that they can hear her.

She speaks loudly enough for them to hear her.

or

She speaks loudly enough to be heard by them.

In sentence 1, ‘He is so clever’ is the Principal Clause. ‘that he can solve difficult sums’ is the Subordinate Clause of Result. The word ‘clever’ is an Adjective.

When ‘enough to’ is used, the adjective ‘clever’ came before ‘enough to’ and the infinitive with ‘to’ is added.

In sentence 2, ‘She speaks so loudly’ is Principal Clause. ‘that they can hear her’ is the Subordinate Clause of Result. The word ‘loudly’ is an Adverb.

Similarly, when ‘enough to’ is used, the adverb ‘loudly’ came before ‘enough to’ and the infinitive with ‘to’ is added.

Thus, the Adverb Clause of Result with ‘enough to’ is formulated by:

Adjective/Adverb	+	enough to	+	Infinitive
------------------	---	-----------	---	------------

or

Adjective/Adverb + enough for(object pronoun) to + Infinitive

or

Adjective/Adverb + enough to be(Verb3)by + Object Pronoun

Exercise (306):
